Oasis Academy Shirley Park celebrate Kings Coronation

By Skylar Williams and Ayanna Hornsby

Sometimes people ask what will happen during the coronation, will there be a change? What rules will the King make? On the 6th of May 2023 Britain's very own King was coronated King Charles, after our beloved Queen died last year in September. Some people thought why did it take this long for the new king to get coronated, was it because he was too busy? Or was he still getting over the death of his mother? On the 2nd of June 1953, the past monarch was coronated, but this year was different.

Mostly everyone saw our very own King get coronated. We saw all the King's supporters from places around London behind gates cheering people on as they were in their fancy cars on their way to Westminster Abbey. When the guests started to arrive, the King and Queen Consort made their way to Westminster Abbey. When the King and Queen Consort arrived, they had a long walk in. A few hours into the ceremony, the King had the crown placed on his head. People had claimed to see a mysterious black figure called the "grim reaper". It was later confirmed by Westminster Abbey that it was one of their workers dressed up due to religious beliefs. After the service, there was a traditional procession through the streets of London going back to Buckingham Palace. Most people asked where Prince Harry was, but it was later confirmed that after the service, he left for his son's birthday.

In School, we celebrated the coronation by asking all the children to come wearing red, white and blue. Some classes designed their own crown, Year 5 celebrated by having a tea party in the hall. It was great that the school had bunting everywhere. This is a time that will never be forgotten, 'God save the King!'

Some of the party treats the Year 5s had in the hall party celebrating the Kings Coronation.

Spring Fair kicks off Summer with a bang, with £2300 raised for the school...

By Pjeter Marku and Olivia Keane

The raffle is ready to go...with lots of fabulous prizes

Views for Year 6 Pupils

Pjeter:

As my Dad was driving me to the fair, Mum was waiting outside the playground. I was late to the fair because I had football, and I only had 45 minutes to spend at the fair. I wish I came earlier. My friends told me how much fun the fair was, from playing all the games, to winning lots of prizes and spraying silly string everywhere!

When I arrived, all my friends were playing and waiting for me to come and play with them. As soon as I got through the gate, I went right to the hot food section, and ordered a pizza for £5. My younger sister played so many things including hook a duck where she won a skipping rope. A child who I spoke to ate ice cream and played tricky games. Her friend got her face painted. She said it was blue, all blue! I cannot wait for the next fair.

Olivia:

On the 20th of May, our thoughtful school held an amazing fair with a total of raising £2300. Amazing raffle prizes were won by many people. The school kindly hired an ice cream van and a hot food section. All around, you could see glitter tattoos, snaps being thrown, and prizes being won. It was magical! A child in Willow class stated, "I got a glitter tattoo, ate ice cream and played with my friend."

My favorite thing was the ring toss. A big thank you to the teachers that helped with this fair.

Our lighthouse of the term came to speak to us about his life....

By Olivia Keane

Mr. Chaudhuri, the principal of the secondary, came to visit the primary and tell us all the fantastic things he has done....

On Friday 21st April, our school had an interview with the lighthouse of the term, Mr Chaudhuri, the principal of our high school.

Mr. Saqib Chaudhuri went to Ingram High School but left as it was not a great school. Due to bad education, Ingram High School was shut down. In the middle of high school, he and his parents moved to Manchester to get a better education for him. After, he went to university. Mr. Chaudhuri moved to Birmingham for University. He then moved back to Croydon to start his journey of teaching. Later in his life, he got married to a doctor named Mila. He then had two children who are now aged 14 and 10. This amazing man is passionate about many things, such as teaching! Mr. Saqib Choudhury became a teacher so that children didn't have to experience what he did, such as a bad education in primary and the early parts of secondary. He reached his goal and added a few extra things as students describe him as funny, kind, and fair.

Another thing he is passionate about is football. Mr. Choudhury is a big Arsenal fan. Personally, I think Manchester United is the best team ever, but Arsenal is okay. Furthermore, his favorite hobby is playing computer games. Now you might be thinking this is a bit random but read this, this man studied computer science at university because he loved computer games so much- specifically Halo and FIFA. Speaking of FIFA, did you know that Mr. Saqib Choudhury is 8th in the WORLD at FIFA! Yes... I know... a school principal 8th in the world at FIFA? Crazy, right! Anyways, although he loves art, music, drama and Maths, Mr. Choudhury's favorite part of the day is break and lunch, one reason being is that he loves speaking to his students.

And that's it! Like Mr. Chaudhuri stated, "Find your passion and dedicate lots of time to it to be happy!" Bye!

Message from Miss Charles, Miss Howard, Mrs. Downton, and Mr. Sharp...

Miss Charles says: Wow, what a wonderful and busy half term we have had in Early Years. We held our first ever Reception Garden Day, where parents got to come in and play with their children in our outdoor area. The adults even had a turn on the climbing frame. The Nursery children took a wonderful walk to Ashburton Library, where they had a singing session with the librarian and got to explore some of their favourite books. All the children in Early Years cannot wait for the last term of fun, learning and sunshine!!

Miss Howard says - Wow, what a wonderful term it has been for Years 1,2 and 3! We have had a wonderful time in our classes exploring some exciting projects from growing plants to making clay sculptures. The children have worked incredibly hard and a special shout out to our Year 2's who took their King's Questions and impressed us all with their hopeful attitudes. A favourite from this term was our Media Day with Spark2 who put on some really fascinating and engaging performances the children loved being a part of. As we enter the final term, we prepare for our wonderful Showasis performances.

Mr Sharp says - Hi Year 4, 5 and 6! Thank you for another great and busy half-term. Well done to Year 6 for your big effort with SATs and Year 4s with their multiplication checks. Enjoy your half term, we return to another very busy 7 weeks with many exciting lessons, activities and events planned.

Mrs Downton says - This half term, The Orchard have been tending to the garden in the outside area. The children have been planting seeds and learning about how to make them grow. This has been linked to the science that they have been learning about. They have read lots of books and been creative during activities linked to these books. They were particularly interested in wearing crowns that they had made for the King's coronation.
